Intellectual Activity at Sacred Heart College

Sister Mary Annette and her assistants always know how to help and are very gracious about giving advice and assistance. The library is a place where everyone likes to work because of its restful and inspiring atmosphere.

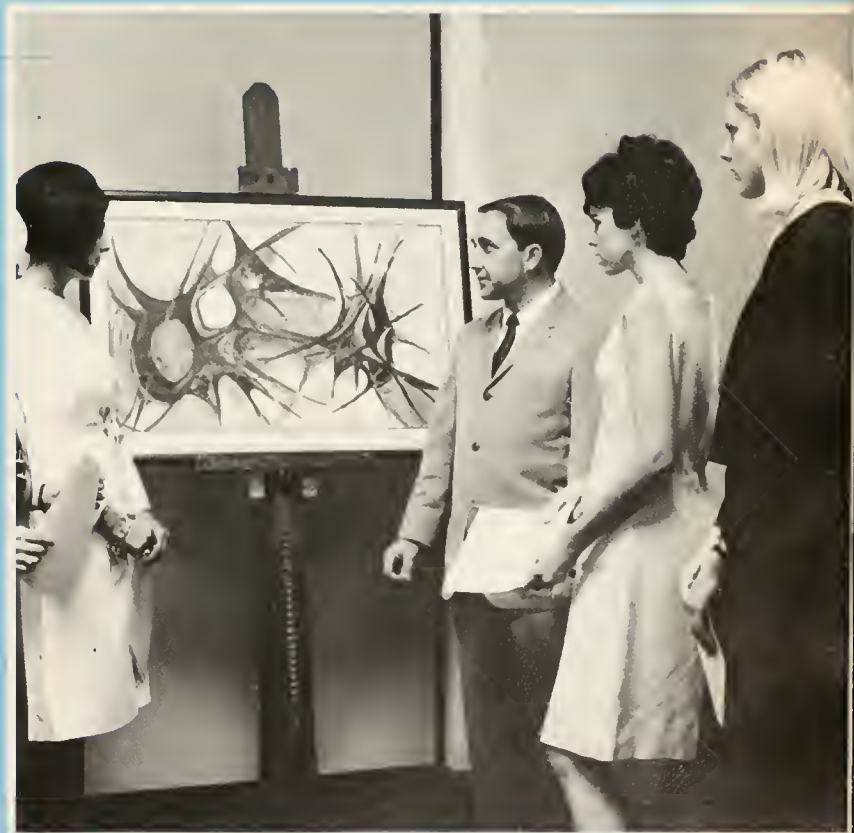

Sister M. Theophane, head of the Art Department, did the painting of Our Lady of Mercy above the main desk. By its beauty and harmony it inspires us to the pursuit of the knowledge and wisdom which characterized Our Lady.

Bishop McLaughlin, Auxiliary Bishop of Raleigh, blesses Doyle Hall.

O Lord God almighty, bless this house. In it may there be health, chastity, victory over sin, strength, humility, goodness of heart and gentleness, full observance of your law and gratefulness to God, the Father, and the Son and the Holy Spirit. And may this blessing remain upon this house and upon those who live here, now and forever and ever. Amen.

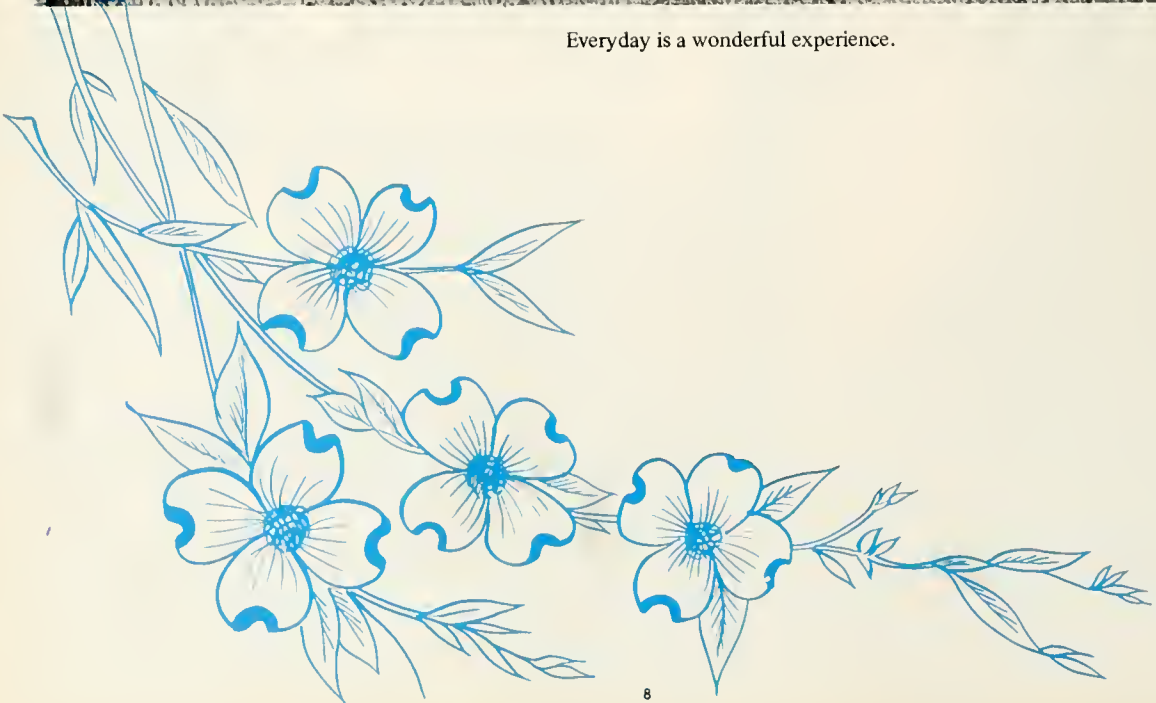

All of their studies, the contacts with great minds of history, discussion with professors, visiting lecturers and companions, experiences in living in a Christian community prepare for the life and apostolate of the years to come.

We Offer

We only love by giving love
We only hear by saying
We only walk by standing up
We only gain by praying

You gave us hearts for giving love
You gave us ears for hearing
You gave us legs for standing up
These things we're now returning

Chorus

We offer
We offer
We offer these before you

You gave us eyes for seeing man
You gave us hands for reaching
You gave us souls for making friends
Then knowing, loving, teaching

You gave us wills for doing right
You gave us minds for learning
You gave us strength, You gave us light
These things we're now returning

Chorus

We offer
We offer
We offer these before you

GUIDING A STUDENT

Sister Theophane gives advice to Linda Mountcastle of Newport News, Va., one of her students, on the composition of a sketch. Her teaching method is to advise and instruct — but let the student do the work. "After all, it's his or her painting. When they exhibit their work, they don't want it three-fourths done by Sister Theophane," she says.

Thomas Aquinas

The Christian student says with Thomas Aquinas, "out of love for Thee have I studied, watched through many nights and exerted myself."

The wonderful world of nature gives on appreciation of beauty and is often a preparation for a career in some of the professions allied to medicine.

To obtain knowledge we must submit to discipline.

*Most Rev. Vincent S. Waters D. D.
Bishop of Raleigh*

Churches throughout the diocese are a tribute to the zeal of His Excellency, Bishop Waters.

A great and wise leader for Christ, Bishop Waters has been fair in dealing with people in world situations. He was farsighted in desegregation and he is very progressive in his compliance with the wishes of Our Holy Fathers, John XXIII and Pius VI in updating the liturgy.

In his conversations the Bishop opens up for us many beautiful vistas of truth and goodness. Knowing that "as the home goes so goes the world," he has a tremendous interest in the education of women.

A Christian humanist, he knows personally most of the great scholars and artists living in the world today.

Since one becomes great by being apprenticed to greatness, we are all ennobled by our association with our Bishop.

First and foremost like our forefathers, all men should make in every place on every suitable occasion a clear, definite, and vigorous affirmation of the existence of God.

There should be as equally strong an affirmation of the existence of God's order, visible in the universe and in man.

There should be affirmed that by the self-evident first principles of his reason, man shares in this order established by God.

There should be affirmed that man's will, directed to universal goodness, also participates in God's order.

There should be affirmed that man's freedom is always, and only ["under God", never "against God" or "without God."

There should be affirmed in the modern world that natural moral law, like truth, goodness, and justice does not change but remains the fixed external standard, like the eternal God Himself.

There should be affirmed that human positive law is just only when in conformity with natural or divine law, whose application it is, to individual cases.

There are the moorings that God has made for drifting man; unless he ties fast to them, with his reason, there is no hope for the world.

This means we must bring back the golden age of reason and of faith in which will flourish philosophers and saints like in ages gone by.

BISHOP VINCENT S. WATERS

SACRED HEART COLLEGE

SISTER M. STEPHEN

Sister M. Stephen, widely known in educational circles, is a woman of vision and foresight. As President of Sacred Heart, she is vitally interested in educating young women to take their places as Christians in a modern democratic society. Under her progressive leadership, the college is making great strides.

The past few years have witnessed a widened organization of administration at Sacred Heart, an increase in the size and calibre of the faculty, and a broadened educational program.

*Sister M. Stephen, President
Sacred Heart College*

CHANGE

The word that best characterized the modern world is the word "change". There is an increasing awareness of the dignity of the person and the rights of the individual conscience and the growth of community and brotherhood while, our society paradoxically, witnesses increasing depersonalization in the institutions of society and increase in crimes against the person. There exists a growing consciousness of the interdependence of institutions of higher learning and our complex American Society. Along with the increasing numbers of young people seeking higher education, there is an increasing restlessness of students and the questioning of existing norms. With the advances in the education of women, there comes an awareness of the changing roles and responsibilities of women. The world witnesses the dramatic sight of the Church engaged in the searching examination of itself and of its divinely-given mission in relation to the contemporary world. These are but a few things to bear in mind when one considers the world in which an institution of higher education, a Catholic College for women, specifically our college here at Sacred Heart, is carrying on its work today.

Reverend James Solari, O.S.B. Chaplain

Father James certainly represents the spiritual life at Sacred Heart College. His personal interest in the student body makes him the girls' friend as well as their Chaplain. His ear is ever listening; his heart is always open; and his smile radiates a warm understanding. Sacred Heart tips its prayer cap to Father James!

Art Appreciation

Art in the Elementary School — calls for creative design in paper.
Jan Wieland, Sue Langley, Pat Kowalski, Priscilla Asony, Joan Roberts

Pat Bradley finds composition work a worthwhile experience although it requires concentration and hard work.

Could Carol Keenan be in such deep thoughts concerning English Lit.?

Alicia Rooney finds College classes different from her former classes in high school.

Instructing students under the Team Teaching Program are Sister Mary Kevin, Sister Mary Brigid, Miss Barbara Sullivan, Mrs. June Mullen, Sister Mary Cecilia, and Mr. Frank Avesing.

Miss Sullivan connects the past with the present, and contemplates the future.

History

Examinations are a thrill for Bonnie Langston—oh yeah!

"All right, girls! Give us that enthusiastic, attentive look!"

"You won't believe this, Sharon"

"See, I told you—take a closer view"

"You must be Kidding—it looks like something that came out of the cafeteria!"

Science

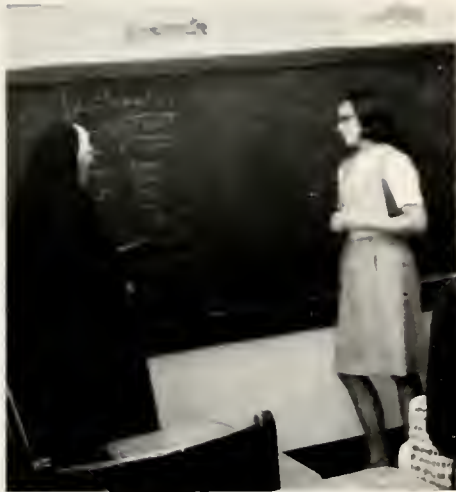

Evi Chang, a special student, observes the Medusa of Gonionemus under a hand lens.

"Every man should be a poet, philosopher, scientist and saint."

St. Thomas Aquinas

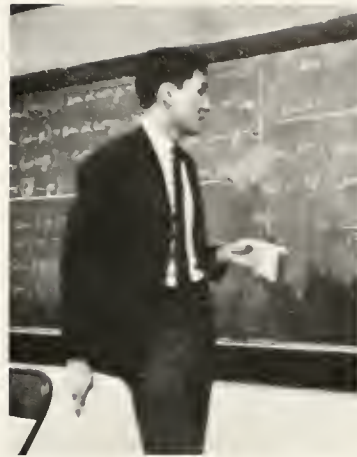

In order to find out as much as we can about the world God made for us, we must look at every aspect of the whole. The sciences reveal to us the complicated nature of the physical world, but also the simplicity and unity of the laws governing it. This leads to a better understanding of the world we live in and the great omnipotence of its Creator.

Sister Jean Baptiste explains a problem to Pat Mac Clements.

Modern Math

We live in a world today in which almost everything we do is based on our knowledge of math. A result of the discovery and application of inductive and deductive thinking it is a practical and concise science. The leaders of the future will need a basic knowledge of it in order to produce food as well as to launch our rockets.

Mr. Frank Lim ponders a solution.

Class is thinking along with Mr. Lim.

Math problems.

Sister Aquinas drills her students in elementary French.

Languages

Spanish classes are always associated with Sister Michael. Her use of tapes and dialogues brings variety to the classroom.

Intermediate French students enjoy Alice Smith's conversation classes.

Sacred Heart offers courses in beginning, intermediate, and advanced French and Spanish. Speaking, reading, and writing in each of the languages is stressed so that proficiency may be gained.

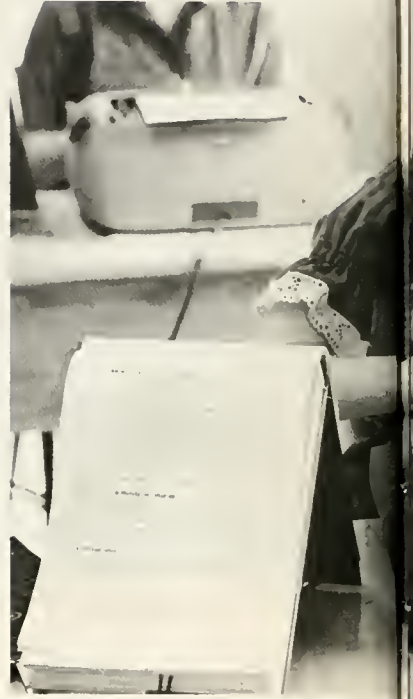

In the Language laboratories, girls have the opportunity to perfect their pronunciation and accent. Classroom conversation in the language enables the student to improve her command of either French or Spanish.

For the advanced French students, Mother Maura takes a look behind the language and at the country's customs, its people, and its literature.

Sister Pauline combines accounting with confidence.

Books stand at attention as heads bow in concentration.

Philosophy

The Love of Wisdom

"The intellectual nature of the human person is perfected by wisdom and needs to be. For wisdom gently attracts the mind of man to a quest and a love for what is true and good. Steeped in wisdom man passes through visible realities to those which are unseen.

"Our era needs such wisdom more than bygone ages if the discoveries made by man are to be further humanized. For the future of the world stands in peril unless wiser men are forthcoming."

"The Dignity of the Human Person"

Natural Sciences, Sister M. Gertrude

Sister M. Gertrude taught us Child Psychology, Health, Medical Secretarial and Anatomy. Besides being a Master Teacher, Sister has had much practical experience in the Nursing Field. It is a great privilege for us to have had her for a teacher in these important Classes at Sacred Heart College.

Reports on Child Psychology must have been pretty good judging from the pleased expressions.

The brain and how it functions is explained in detail.

Sister Gertrude shows a student how to take blood pressure.

Some things one must simply study to learn. Anatomy is a rugged course, but it pays off in a sense of achievement.

Sociology

Sociology instructor Frank Avesing envisions the role of the teacher as did Henry James: "The teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops." Mr. Avesing is one of the thirteen instructors at Sacred Heart College participating in the recently initiated integrated humanities program.

To enrich the student's cultural perspective, and to aid her in the formative development of a critical mind, free of provinciality, the program implements principles of team teaching in English Literature, Western Civilization, American History, Art and Music.

Essentially, the integrated humanities program is an effort to convey the unity of knowledge. Through academic communication in the modern media, Sacred Heart College seeks to teach that the real place of man in creation is to be lord of the world and servant of God. For man is more than animal. In the words of Paul, he belongs to Christ and "Christ belongs to God" In this sense, the teacher does affect eternity.

Theology

Home Economics

Sue Larkin, Susan Truliove, Smokie Walsh and Ginny Seward — working overtime to get a project completed.

Sacred Heart College offers courses in the field of home economics to give the girl a chance to prepare herself for the role of homemaker.

In the food classes of the Home Economics Department girls learn to plan, to prepare, and to serve nutritious meals. In the clothing classes the girls plan and make additions to their wardrobes.

Mrs. Sparrow instructs the girls in a tennis game.

Speech and Oral Interpretation

Mr. B. Michael Wood, Head of Speech and Drama Department at Sacred Heart College.

Mr. B. Michael Wood has contributed to the cultural atmosphere at Sacred Heart College in a tremendous way. Head of the Speech and Drama Department, he has injected a spirit and enthusiasm which led the students willingly to devote many hours to study and practice for their performances and productions.

The Masquers (Name of the Dramatics Club) started the 1966-67 season with Noel Coward's hilarious comedy, "Blithe Spirit."

G. B. Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell" was produced on February 5 at 3 p.m. and again at 8 p.m.

Euripides immortal tragedy, "Medea" was done in contemporary abstract medium on April 7, 8, and 9 at 8 p.m. each evening.

While participating in necessary practice and gaining essential credits students of the courses taught by Mr. Wood find that they develop a degree of insight into life and a maturity of judgment which are one of the main objectives of college education. Mr. Wood gets his class interested in a train of thought or the pursuit of an idea and they swarm to the library to follow it up. In this way he is making a tremendous contribution to their intellectual life.

To serve willingly and joyfully both the physical and spiritual needs of all individuals is the prime objective of the Legion of Mary. Unmitigated devotion to duty is honored by each Legionary's personal promise to carry on the work of Christ under the direct auspices of His Mother, Mary.

No good work is too insignificant for the Legion of Mary. We can reach the needs of human life on the campus as well as on the mission field. Approaches vary with the locale, but Christain love and fine example are universal.

Project Lookout

"Lecture in 5 minutes . . . bring your chairs with you!" . . . "Gee, I'm hungry! . . . Heah! They're serving LUNCH!!" . . . "O.K., kids, we gotta think of a poster about love . . ." "Let's make a big flame with black all around it to symbolize Sin, and Love conquering it" . . . "O.K., let's sing it through again: 'As we walk up to the altar!' . . ." . . . "OUCH! I just tacked my thumb to the altar!" . . . "These hosts taste funny!" . . . "My feet are cold!" . . . "Well, get on the bottom bunk." . . . "There's no screen in the door! What if . . ." "Offer it up."

If there is one thing the classes of '67 and '70 will remember forever, it will be "Project Lookout." It was a most unusual retreat initiated by Ed and Fran Driscoll and the first of its kind attempted on the college level.

It was a genuine success from the start. Through careful planning, hard work, and thousands of prayers sent in from places like California, Texas and New York, it had to be. Who would have thought that a small summer camp in South Carolina could become the sight for a successful retreat?

It lasted one week-end, and took place at Camp Thunderbird in northern South Carolina. The girls slept in cabins (some unheated) and attended lectures, discussions, sing-outs, poster contests, work shops, and movies, all the while working together to produce the final climax--a COMMUNITY MASS.

The altar was hand made, along with the candle holders, altar cloths, priest's garments, hosts, and banners. Songs were written, and guitars twanged as all merged in one great procession into the log-cabin church. Spectators came from all parts to witness this Mass, and to share in the noon meal.

Although the sky was cloudy, this fact did not seem to hamper the lasting success of project LOOKOUT, because, as expressed by an enthusiastic participator, "God hid the sun, so that we would let our lights of love shine out and brighten our own surroundings."

The Fine Arts Club is an organization for the purpose of expanding and challenging individuals in creative thinking and expression. It helps the student to bring forth her ideas on the arts—painting, writing, singing, and acting. Here at Sacred Heart we are privileged to have guests from all over the world, bringing to us their professional outlooks and talents to our campus. The Fine Arts Club has the responsibility and honor to be hostesses for the guests, bringing them to and fro from the airport, providing their place of stay, bringing them to meals, and introducing them to the student body for lectures and receptions. The increased interest on campus in promoting the arts has stimulated the membership of the club greatly.

Moderator of the club is an artist herself, Sister Mary Theophane.

Drama Department

The Drama Department of a college is the base unit of most fine arts productions presented there. The drama department of a college gives students practical experience in the anatomy of the theatre. In order for any arts center to exist at all, there must be the human element. People are the most important factor in any theatre. The people who work together have something in common with one another; they have the desire to be part of the body that gives the drama life on the stage. As the desire to learn increases, so the interest increases.

The Sacred Heart department of Speech and Drama is the center where such learning and desire and interest is stimulated. This department has taught students to feel confident in front of spectators. Students have learned to be stage managers, actors, assistant-directors, wardrobe and make-up crews for the drama presented.

The most active and creative force behind the Department of Speech and Drama is Mr. B. Michael Wood. Mr. Wood has guided students in every aspect of the stage. He is dedicated to the theatre and to the presentation of good drama. He has taught all who have worked with him that the ultimate end of training is to be involved in a human experience and to achieve the satisfaction of "a thing well done."

Director, Mrs. Slaten

Glee Club

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Slaten, Sacred Heart Glee Club has entertained the student body at its annual Christmas dinner. They also along with the Belmont Abbey Chanticleers have performed at several other college functions. S. H. College certainly is proud of these girls who excel not only in their singing ability but also in their enthusiasm for the love of music.

Relations

International Relations Club

Sacred Heart College has two clubs that deal with International Relations to promote better understanding between the two Americas. These two organizations are the International Relations Club and Pram. The former deals with a culture exchange between the foreign students and the United States students. Pram's main purpose is to foster a better understanding between the Americas as well.

The International Relation's main project of the year is sending a delegation consisting of four representatives to a Mock United Nations General Assembly. Pram's goal is to send students over the summer months to Latin America. Both clubs also attend various conventions throughout the state or its proximity.

S.H.C.'S MID-WINTER BALL

THE MID-WINTER BALL

On Saturday, the night of January 21, the air was crisp as girls were leaving Sacred Heart with their dates. The occasion was the annual Mid-Winter Ball to be held at the White House Inn in Charlotte. Everyone seemed to be transformed, dressed in their long formals or tuxedos. Music that evening was provided by Dan Ramsy and his orchestra, and the music they played really added to the mood of the evening. The crowning of the King and Queen of the Ball was one of the major events of the evening.

The lucky couple was Eileen Scanlon and John Saldino. After the coronation, a country-style breakfast was served Buffet style. After the delicious breakfast, all the couples once again began dancing and what seemed to be all too soon, the last song was playing. The only complaint heard was, that it did not last long enough.

Betsy Vail and Tom McGuire catch the camera at the same time it catches them.

Kathy Cerns and Tom Dillon never knew.

TO A NUN

*I may not hold to sacred strain
That made you different from your kind,
That fostered in your youthful brain
One deep-grooved sacrificial line
That barred the door to earthly thing;
that overcame
The human urge . . . Love and Life's renewing power
To live in other lives again . . .
A loss you count as sacred dower.
But your devotion is to me
A "white fire" gleam of life divine;
A beacon set that I may see
And long to serve in part this task of thine . . .
This task for child and church; for poor and wretched blind,
And with it all to be serene — so gentle and so kind.*

Reddy To Rock

Reddy Kilowatt never misses a party. In fact, without him, things would be pretty dull. Think of it: no stereos, televisions, electric guitars or ice cubes.

Thanks to Reddy there are over 160 flameless electric servants that make modern living comfortable, economical and fun. When you have a home of your own, there will probably be even more.
